All of them turned and saw Spike running towards them as fast as possible, with Applejack and Twilight Sparkle standing a bit further away. Before either Ember or the chimera knew what had happened, Spike had planted himself between them, causing the chimera to back away from its foe.

Anecdotal observations suggest that long-lasting CAR T cells in patients are polyfunctional, which argues that PSI may be a measure of clinically active subsets. 9 Furthermore, it should be determined whether the PSI of the CAR T-cell product correlates with the PSI of the apheresis product.

Based on the abovementioned observations, we conclude that 1) the regulation of hOEC adhesion by chimeric peptides follows a certain time course. In the early stages of wound healing, cells are in a migratory state; therefore, the chimeric peptides do not enhance the hOEC adhesion capacity.
